

About Daphne....

I have over 25 years experience in traditional and contemporary quilting and extensive teaching and presentation experience at major quilting conferences and for guilds and shops throughout North America. I have taught on seven Quilting Cruises.

I am the author of five quilting books, design and publish patterns (as Patchworks Studio) and write articles for quilting magazines. I am a nominee for 'Teacher of the Year' sponsored by the International Association of Professional Quilters. My work has been exhibited in Canada and the United States.

Teaching Philosophy

My goal as a teacher is to encourage students to try new techniques, to expand their skills and, most importantly, to have fun and enjoy the creative process. I have studied how students learn and tailor my workshops to accommodate these differences, providing detailed handouts, oral instructions and hands-on demonstrations. I consult individually with students throughout my workshops to guide their progress, provide feedback and answer questions. My students most often comment on how supported and encouraged they are in my workshops.
